Course description

This is the first course in a two-semester sequence on probability and theoretical statistics. The course is required for the MS and PhD in Statistics and for the PhD in Biostatistics. In it, we will cover the basics of probability, random variables, common distributions, distribution theory, and concepts of convergence, and we will get a start on principles of inference.

Course materials

Required

Statistical Inference (2nd Edition), by George Casella and Roger Berger.

Course technology

This course is not technology heavy. The current plan is to offer the course in person. Depending on events during the semester, this may change. In preparation for the possibility of a change, you should (i) be familiar with Carmen, The Ohio State University's course management system, (ii) develop the ability to submit homework/quizzes/exams directly to Carmen (i.e., in electronic format), and (iii) have the ability to work with Carmen Zoom. You will develop skill in areas (i) and (ii) as the term progresses (see below).

For help with your password, university e-mail, Carmen, or any other technology issues, questions, or requests, contact the OSU IT Service Desk. Standard support hours are available at <https://ocio.osu.edu/help/hours>, and support for urgent issues is available 24x7.

Course delivery

This course is designed to be in person. In the event that circumstances force a change, students will be provided with comprehensive details about how to complete all components of the course. If anything is unclear at any point in the semester, please contact me for clarification.

Grading and faculty response

Grades

Your numerical grade for this course will be computed on the basis of:

Homework Assignments – 20%
Quizzes – 40%
Midterm Exam – 20%
Final Exam – 20%

Your lowest quiz and your lowest homework grades will be dropped before computing your quiz score and homework score. If you miss a quiz or homework assignment, you will receive a zero for the assignment (which would then be the one that you would drop).

Assignment information

You will have homework assignments at a pace of roughly one assignment per week. The baseline expectation is for you to spend two hours outside of class on this course for each nominal hour in class. Depending on your background and the pace at which you work, your actual time may be longer or shorter than this expectation.

Homework assignments will contain a mix of problems from the textbook and additional problems. The assignments will be available on Carmen. Solutions to the assignments will be posted after the assignments are due. Only a subset of the problems will be graded. You are responsible for comparing your solutions to the posted solutions for the ungraded problems.

Quizzes will be 30 minutes in length and will be given in class on most Fridays. The midterm exam is tentatively scheduled for Friday, October 8.

Late assignments

Assignments will be due at the time posted on Carmen. With few exceptions, late assignments will not be accepted.

Grading scale

Final grades will be assigned on the basis of performance in the course. The grades will not be lower than those in the “straight scale” of 90% for an A, 80% for a B, 70% for a C and so on. The quizzes and exams will contain some difficult problems, and it is likely that the cutoffs will be lower than this traditional scale.

Faculty feedback and response time

I am providing the following list to give you an idea of my intended availability throughout the course.

Grading and feedback

For large weekly assignments, you can generally expect feedback within 7 days.

E-mail

I will reply to e-mails within 24 hours on school days.

Attendance

The class is designed around the lectures. Attendance is strongly encouraged as is class participation. If you have questions, ask in class or see me after class or during office hours.

If you are unable to attend due to COVID-19 or for other reasons, please let me know right away. If you test positive for the virus or believe that you have symptoms, it is best that you take care of health concerns before worrying about this class. Let me know of the situation promptly and we will make special arrangements (see also below).

Academic integrity policy

The main purpose of this course is for you to learn the material and to increase your understanding of Statistics. For the homework assignments, you are encouraged to talk with fellow students and to work on the problems with them. However, your write-up should be your own. For quizzes and exam, you are to work solely on your own, and you may not use materials other than those designated by the instructor.

Note that this policy of open discussion on the homework is specific to this course. Other instructors and other courses may well have a different policy. Make sure that you understand the policy for each course that you take.

Ohio State's academic integrity policy

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term "academic misconduct" includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). Your mental health

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation.
